In cryptography, a certificate authority or certification authority (CA) is an entity that issues digital certificates. A digital certificate certifies the ownership of a public key by the named subject of the certificate. This allows others (relying parties) to rely upon signatures or on assertions made about the private key that corresponds to the certified public key.

How to create a Trusted Digital Identity? A trusted digital ID is created by conducting three general steps: capture, verify, digitalize. The details of each step may vary according to the extent of the information the MNO wishes to capture and the regulations they are subject to, for example, around personal data privacy.

Enabling Trusted digital identities by Gemalto (2019)

This bill would modify that requirement by requiring a business that collects personal information about a consumer to disclose the consumer's right to delete personal information in a form that is reasonably accessible to consumers and in accordance with a specified process.
